

Do Something About It!

It is tax season, and people all across America are in the process of preparing their tax returns for the year. Many people get very upset, and even depressed, this time each year. They feel they pay too much in taxes and they vow to do everything they can to find ways to reduce their tax bill for next year.

Unfortunately, this generally doesn't happen. This is why you need to know about all the tax law changes for 2015 now, so you have time to prepare and actually do something about it for next year.

Since 2001, Congress has enacted more than 5,000 tax code changes. 2015 is no exception as this new year brings a number of critical tax law changes. Investors need to be aware of these changes if they wish to maximize their income and minimize their taxes. Keeping up with the tax rule changes each year can be very difficult, especially if you do not have professional help.

Most tax law changes are designed to take more money out of your pocket. Fortunately, though, there are some very good legal tax-saving strategies still available. And you need to do everything you can to take advantage of these while you still can; especially with many more tax law changes and tax increases expected soon.

So, if you are sick and tired of paying too much in taxes each and every year, now is the time to do something about it. Start by tuning into the It's Your Money Show next week to learn more about the critical tax law changes for 2015, and to find out how they might affect you. Then, find a retirement specialist that incorporates tax efficient planning into their practice so you can start incorporating a plan of action now for becoming more tax efficient.

The show airs on WMEQ (880 AM) on Thursday at 7:30am and Saturday at 9:00am, as well as on WWIB (103.7 FM) on Wednesday at 7:30pm and Saturday at 5:30pm.
